

Report - The Visit to Sanjay Van

Amidst the hustle and bustle of the city lies a gem called Sanjay Van, a lush forested area that offers a tranquil escape for nature enthusiasts. Our young learners had an opportunity to visit this green belt of Delhi and experience nature up close.

The children arrived at school full of excitement for the visit. Before leaving, the class gathered for a circle time discussion about what they might observe during the trip. They spoke about Sanjay Van and said that it is one of the green belts of Delhi and discussed that it is a home to animals and birds like porcupine, blue bull, dragonflies etc. The children also revisited the do's and don'ts of going on a visit, such as staying with the group, listening carefully to instructions, and taking care not to disturb nature.

The bus ride to Sanjay Van was filled with enthusiasm and cheerful singing. The children happily sang familiar songs like Wheels on the Bus and Dig Dig the Ground, along with many others, which made the journey lively and enjoyable.

Once they reached Sanjay Van, the children walked into the forested area and immediately began observing their surroundings. They noticed birds such as peacocks, mynas, and pigeons. As they walked along the trails, they connected their observations with what they had learned in class. They pointed out different types of leaves and flowers, and eagerly discussed their shapes, colours and names.

Near the lake, the children spotted more birds and observed bamboo trees and rabbits. The open space allowed them to move around freely, and they enjoyed running and playing simple games together in the natural surroundings.

After the walk, the children had a delightful picnic amidst the lush greenery, with a beautiful waterfall in the background. They were mindful of the environment and followed the good practice of not littering, ensuring that the area remained clean.

Later, the children engaged in a nature craft activity. They went in search of fallen leaves, flowers, and small twigs that could be used for their creations. During this exploration, they also spotted dragonflies and butterflies, which added to their excitement.

Although it was quite a long walk for the little ones, they managed it with great enthusiasm. The visit was a memorable experience and a lovely way to spend time together before they move on to Class 1.
