

'Summer Season Presentations'

A report on various assembly presentations

Summer is a season filled with sunshine, fresh fruits, colourful festivals, and opportunities to learn about caring for ourselves and the environment. To help children explore and understand different aspects of the season in a joyful and interactive manner, Koel A, B, and C presented a series of assemblies on the theme "Summer Season." The assemblies provided a wonderful platform for children to express themselves confidently through role play, dance, songs, and skits.

The children beautifully explained how seasons change through an enactment of the sun and the earth. Dressed creatively, they demonstrated how the movement of the earth around the sun leads to the changing of seasons. The four seasons were presented in a simple and engaging manner, helping everyone understand the concept with ease.

The children also highlighted the various summer harvest festivals celebrated across India. Dressed as farmers, they showcased festivals such as Baisakhi, Bohag Bihu, and Vishu. Through dance, expressions, and role play, they depicted how farmers celebrate the harvest season with happiness, gratitude, music, and traditional customs.

The presentation on seasonal fruits and vegetables available during summer added colour and excitement as children came dressed as various seasonal fruits, foods, and refreshing drinks. They confidently spoke about healthy foods and beverages that help us stay cool and hydrated during the hot summer months.

Another presentation focused on ways to take care of ourselves during the summer season. Children shared useful tips such as carrying umbrellas while stepping out in the sun, drinking plenty of water and nariyal pani to stay hydrated, and enjoying activities such as swimming or visiting hill stations to keep cool and refreshed.

A thoughtful skit was also presented on caring for others during the summer season. Through their performance, the children spread awareness about watering plants and trees, keeping bowls of water out for birds, and taking care of animals such as stray dogs and cats during the hot weather.

The series of assemblies was a wonderful blend of learning, creativity, and confidence-building. The children participated with confidence and enthusiasm, making the 'Summer Season' assemblies both informative and enjoyable for everyone.
